Four Incumbents, One Newcomer Win Annexation Possibilities Explored On Properties East of Parkway

by Bill Rowland

Greenbelt continues to move toward probable expansion of its boundaries south and east from the present city limits. As much as 167 acres could be added to the city through current annexation efforts.

Primary targets for annexation are the new Maryland Trade Center building, and the adjacent Sunstates and Baker-Witt properties on which commercial development is expected. Annexation would mean that the city could expect to gain significant tax revenues and would have some degree of control over the future development of the vacant 45.7 acres included in these properties.

In a secondary move, the city would like to smooth out its uneven border south of Greenbelt Road and east of the Beltway. The owners of four parcels of land, totalling about 114 acres have been asked by the city manager if they would be interested in annexation into the city.

The following summarizes the status of the annexation efforts as of the beginning of September:

Md. Trade Center & Sunstates

An annexation agreement and a declaration of covenants have been signed by the city and by the owners of the Maryland Trade Center and the 33.7-acre Sunstates property. (The names Coakley & Williams and Resnick are also associated with these properties.) Execution of the agreements depends on the outcome of efforts by the owners, supported by the city, to gain rezoning of the vacant land from high-rise to commercial. The Zoning Hearing Examiner has not yet issued his recommendation. After he does so, the County Council (acting as the District Council) will have to decide the zoning question.

A part of the zoning issue is the future of traffic flow in the area if the expected commercial development takes place. The city has asked county Chief Administrative Officer Kenneth Duncan to start preparation of legislation that would establish a tax incremental financing district for the extension of Hanover Parkway to Good Luck Road, and for other related road improvements in that part of the city. Duncan has replied that the requested legislative proposal will be presented to the County Council at such time as the rezoning is granted.

Baker-Witt

Western Development Corp., as contract purchaser of the 12-acre Baker-Witt property, has given the city a letter of petition to annex. The proposed terms of annexation are spelled out in the letter. A final annexation agreement and declaration of covenants have not yet been signed. As with Sunstates, rezoning and traffic flow are pending issues, with Baker-Witt not far behind Sunstates in the rezoning process, and linked with Sunstates as a reason for securing the tax incremental financing of road improvements.

Other Properties

The properties being considered for annexation in order to even up the city's boundary line are the following:

- 1) The Tidler properties, consisting of one parcel of about 77 acres and a second of a bit over 22 acres, both located to the south of Windsor Green.
- 2) The Glendale-NASA parcel, about ten acres, located between the Sunstates property and Goddard Space Village.
- 3) The Jones property of almost four acres, which is on the south side of Greenbelt Road between the Lutheran Church and the B/W Parkway.

The owners of the Tidler and Glendale-NASA properties have not yet replied to mid-August letters from the city asking about See ANNEXATION page 4, col. 1

North End Construction May Disrupt Parking

The City is undertaking street improvement work on Research Road and Hillside Road between Research and Laurel Hill, which will include street resurfacing, repair and widening; parking shoulder construction, parking shoulder repair, curb construction, replacement of valley gutter with curbs, curb and gutter repair; new sidewalks, sidewalk replacement and catch basin repair.

Because of this work, it will be necessary to establish temporary parking restrictions or otherwise inconvenience residents in the area. Residents are asked to please be on the lookout for temporary parking restriction signs, barricades, trucks, and workmen, and to obey all signs. Above all, do not leave a car in a prohibited area. (It can be towed away at owner's expense, if necessary.)

The city will make every effort to keep the inconvenience at a minimum and to restore torn-up areas as quickly as possible. Parents are asked to warn children to keep away from construction areas and off of construction equipment.

Citizen cooperation and assistance will be appreciated. If there are any questions, please call the city office at 474-8000.

Castaldi Gets High Vote Weidenfeld Comes Close

by Elaine Skolnik

In an election that was not supposed to produce any surprises, Greenbelt's native son Richard Castaldi outpolled his rivals and presumably will be Greenbelt's next mayor. Joining Castaldi on the new council will be, in order of their finish, incumbents Gil Weidenfeld, Richard Pilski, Thomas White and newcomer Ed Putens. Castaldi appeared to benefit from being acceptable to a larger number of persons on both sides of most controversial issues than any other candidate.

All five successful candidates pulled over 40% of the vote, thus eliminating a runoff. The four incumbents each received well over 50% (Castaldi 69.3, Weidenfeld 67.1, Pilski 65.4, White 58.7) of the vote while Putens scored 44.4%. Ott followed Putens with 38.6%, Zugby with 33.6% and James 28.7%.

The 1,808 votes cast represented 51.3% of the 3,522 Greenbelters registered to vote, down sharply from 1979's total of 2,111 or 62% of those registered. (In 1979 there were two referendum questions on the ballot.) In 1977, 59% of the electorate turned out, in 1975 48% and in 1971 54%.

The four incumbents have served together since 1973 when Pilski was top vote-getter. However in 1975 and 1979, Weidenfeld assumed the mayoral post and in 1977 the seesaw tipped back the other way when Pilski regained the chair. In 1975 Castaldi served as mayor pro-tem.

The new council which will serve for two years will hold its organizational meeting on Monday, September 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Potpourri

—The return of the four incumbents for their fifth consecutive term marked an unprecedented vote of confidence.

—Four different candidates led in the four precincts, Castaldi in the 3rd, Pilski in the 6th, Weidenfeld in the 8th and Zugby in the 13th. White's best showing was in the 6th, North End, where he was second. Putens was third in the 13th, Greenbelt East, his home precinct.

—The vote by precincts varied all over the lot from the North End's 63% down to 21.9% in the Springhill Lake precinct. Center's vote was a respectable 57.6%, Greenbelt East's a disappointing 43.7%. The percentages two years ago were Center 67, North End 69, Springhill Lake 38 and Greenbelt East 56. The lower voter turnout can be attributed to the lack of major issues and the rain.

—Place of residence obviously was significant in determining who among the challengers would join the incumbents. Putens was edged by Ott in all precincts—Ott fifth and Putens sixth—except Greenbelt East where Putens outpolled his rival decisively, 215 to 80, to pile up his winning margin.

—Voters cast ballots for an average of 4.07 candidates in all precincts (4.27 in the 3rd, 4.2 in the 6th and 8th and 3.47 in the 13th precinct). Among those who received write-in votes the leader was Jose Morales, who received the nod of three persons. None of his rivals received more than one vote. They were Bill Wilkerson, Jim O'Sullivan, Walsh Barcus, Don Volk, Dorothy Baluch and David Shumway.

—Election Judges: Belva Weisel-3, Patricia Cain-6, Ray McCawley-8, Linda Savage-13. Election Clerks: 3-Maree Loutsch, Magdalene Fuchs, Evelyn Barcus, 6-Earl Lasworth, Doris Brown, Myrtle Yost, 8-Ruth Bond, Anna Hefferan, Madeline Green, 13-Irma Rosendahl, Ellen Rennie, Gudrun Christenson.

—Board of Elections: Betty Moore, Jule Churchill, Joseph Comproni, John Gardes and Nathan Shinderman.

Martha E. Hutzler

Martha E. Hutzler, age 84, died on Friday, September 11. She resided at 7-B Research for 18 years. An active member of the GHI community and an avid letter writer to the News Review, she had a tremendous interest in life and thirst for knowledge. Gardening, shell collecting and collecting, polishing and setting of semi-precious stones were among her hobbies.

Mrs. Hutzler was a homemaker until her husband Charles' death in 1944. To help support her family, she entered the field of retail selling and was associated with B. Altman until her retirement. Mrs. Hutzler traveled extensively throughout the U.S.A. and explored mines in North Carolina in her quest for gems. She moved to Greenbelt in 1963 to be near her daughter, Alice Ross.

Mrs. Hutzler is survived by her daughters, Alice Ross, Barbara Kiehn, sons Charles Robert, and Richard Hutzler, 16 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Charles A. Parsons

Charles A. Parsons of 18-Y Ridge Road, died on September 11 after a long illness. Mr. Parsons was born in Mt. Vernon, Illinois, but had lived in this area most of his adult life while he was an engineer at Bladensburg High School and a security officer at Rosecroft Racetrack. He moved to Greenbelt in 1970. He was active in the Greenbelt Golden Agers, the Prince Georges Plaza Senior Citizens and was a member of the United Presbyterian Church on Queens Chapel Road. He was also an officer in both the Hyattsville and Forestville Lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mr. Parsons is survived by his wife, Zelpha; his son, Danny, of Alexandria; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Graveside ceremonies were held at Washington National Cemetery on September 17.

In Memoriam

Mark Twain once observed that there is considerable risk in living beyond seventy years of age!

Be that as it may, Martha Hutzler added to her many other accomplishments during a well-lived life by actively pursuing a new career in GHI and City affairs between the ages of seventy-five and eighty-five.

In an era when Americans stand accused of having shorter necks for lack of sticking them out in constructive controversy and debate, she picked up the gauntlet with zest, spending hours in research and attendance at meetings. Her memory for figures was phenomenal. She had a gifted pen.

Her handicap of severe deafness she bore with fortitude and refused to let it deter her from making friends of all ages and enjoying neighbors, family and the social scene.

As a neighbor said to me on hearing of her sudden death at the age of eighty-five (her appearance belied her years) "She made a real contribution to Greenbelt."

If Martha Hutzler's hope was the same as most of us that we shall be held in loving memory after our deaths by our circle of friends and devoted families, she need not have been concerned. She will not be forgotten.

Nuclear Freeze Campaign

To the Editor:

Many of the people who attended the Labor Day Festival became involved in the Nuclear Freeze Campaign through the leafletting and petition circulated by the Greenbelt Peace Committee as part of the nationwide program to halt the nuclear arms race. We appreciate the response of all persons, whether in agreement or opposed, for their acceptance of the traditional American custom of dissent and petitioning to change government policy.

For those who are interested in the outcome, we report that 387 people signed the petition. A number of others wanted to find out more about the issue. Anyone who now wishes to add his name may do so by contacting the undersigned.

Follow-up activities include an Open House by the Greenbelt Peace Committee for members, friends and other interested persons at the home of Becky Williams, 19-E Hillside, 474-6265, on Sunday, October 11, 2-5 p.m.

For additional information contact the undersigned.

Two More Rape Cases Increase Concern Here

by Mavis Fletcher

Another daylight rape has increased concern about the safety of women in Greenbelt. The latest reported assault took place on September 8 in an apartment in Springhill Lake when the suspect entered the apartment through an unlocked door and forcibly raped the woman occupant. The suspect is a white male about 28 years of age. (See accompanying picture). Another white male in his 20's may have remained outside the building during the assault.

This rape case follows by one week the reported assault on a female employee of NASA which took place on September 1 at about 11 p.m. in a wooded area along Greenbelt Road. The woman had waited for a bus at her customary bus stop for more than an hour when she started walking to other stops. When she approached the Greenway Shopping Center area, she was grabbed from behind, her eyes and mouth were covered with masking tape and her hands were bound behind her. She was then raped. The suspect is described as a black their interest in annexation. Neither property is known to have any residents. The owner of the Jones parcel, who lives on the property, has told City Manager James Giese that she does not want her property annexed.

During a city council work session on August 31, council members began to have doubts about the wisdom of trying to annex these four additional properties at this time. City Solicitor Emmett Nanna advised council about provisions of Maryland law which give property owners who do not want their land annexed the right to petition for an annexation referendum. Council members expressed concern that an attempt to annex the additional properties now could jeopardize the almost-assured annexation of the Maryland Trade Center and Sunstates and Baker-Witt land.

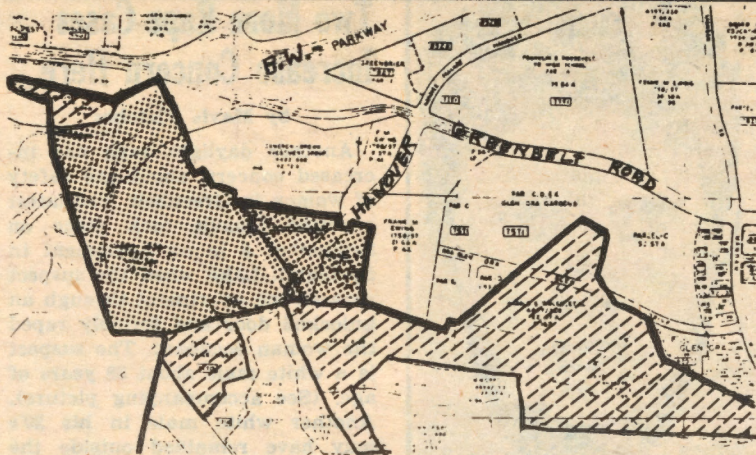

Tax Deferrals

City Solicitor Nanna also advised council to amend the annexation agreement with the owners of the Sunstates property. As the agreement now stands, the vacant Sunstates land will be exempt from city taxation until the first building permit is issued. Nanna recommended that a tax deferral for the vacant land should in addition have a definite time limit (such as three years), with whichever event occurs first — issuance of building permit or end of time limit — triggering the start of tax payments. City Manager Giese has asked the Sunstates representative to seek a fixed time limit that would be acceptable to his clients.

Nanna further advised that the terms of tax deferral should be the same for Baker-Witt as for the Sunstates vacant land, in order to provide like treatment of these similar classes of properties as required by state annexation law. Council must now decide whether to back away from its previous wish to tax the Baker-Witt land from the date of annexation, or whether instead to separate Sunstates and Baker-Witt into two separate annexation proceedings.

Resolving Siding Disputes Adds Color to GHI Meeting

by June Webb

After getting off to a late start, the GHI board of directors made decisions on rehab-related issues. A meeting of the directors of Greenbelt Development Corporation (GDC) preceded the GHI meeting. A dispute on siding color was solved, and staff was directed to continue working with members on siding their additions. The marital status issue finally was discussed.

Tim Mitter brought the board up to date on the siding of additions. The National Consumers Cooperative Bank (NCCB), Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Beltway Aluminum have been contacted about GHI's desire to have individual additions sided along with the units to which they are attached. The NCCB loan money would be used to pay for siding the addition wall that corresponds to the original unit wall. The contract with Beltway is being renegotiated to incorporate this change. Wayne Williams made a motion to ratify that action and to instruct management to survey frame owners concerning the number of such additions and their condition. If a member desires to have his addition sided at the time the unit is being sided, staff will prepare a contract with the member to enable GHI to arrange financing of the additional cost for the member. The motion carried.

A Solomonian decision was requested of the board to solve a vinyl siding color selection dispute between two members. Management presented its color selection process, giving the steps taken when a member disagrees with the color chosen for his unit. A member is assigned a color based on the color preference survey; if he desires another color, staff decides whether his choice is permissible. Two adjacent units must agree to have the same color of siding. When a neighbor disagrees with the choice, GHI has been trying to mediate the difference by asking each neighbor to name three alternate colors, in the hope that one color would be satisfactory to both.

In the case at hand one neighbor wanted the originally assigned color; the other did not want it but was willing to go through mediation to choose another. The first neighbor believes that management's mediation process conflicts with board policy. Architect Stan Sersen displayed the siding colors and diagrammed the current color selections for the row involved in the dispute. From member comments it was evident that tastes differ greatly. Some found the original selections to their liking; others did not like the combination recommended by staff. Margaret Hogensen's motion, to use the pre-selected color when an agreement cannot be reached on an alternate color, passed.

Marital Status

It was decided to discuss the marital status issue in open session, but to wait until executive session to take any action on the matter. Several members stated their opposition to the former policy of prohibiting nonrelated persons from purchasing and living in a GHI home. Some cited the difficulty of a single person being able to purchase a home because of high interest rates and unavailability of credit. Others felt the policy would deny access to GHI homes to people who would make a positive contribution to the community. No members spoke for the reinstitution of the former policy.

In response to a request from the City of Greenbelt, the board voted, on a motion by Don Volk, to grant easements to expand walkways and for the construction of a pedestrian underpass and street reconstruction on Hillside and Research Road.

Management had requested board consensus that a word processor be purchased. Board recommended that a processor be leased, with the option to buy.

Joe Jenkins chaired the GDC meeting prior to the GHI meeting. The board of directors of GHI serve as directors of GDC. GHI management had prepared information concerning painting and roofing of the GDC apartments. Of the 18 code violations cited by the county, only one remains uncorrected, the painting of the window frames. GHI has obtained an extension of the grace

Soccer Kick-Off

Greenbelt soccer is alive and kicking. The 8 year old county team won its opening day game against Hyattsville, 2-1. The team members call themselves the Greenbelt Diplomats. They have a lot of energy, talent and spirit, which makes for fun in a learning environment. There are 15 boys and five girls on the team.

The next game will be played against Cheverly, Sunday, September 20 at 2 p.m. at Braden Field.

Placing for Greenbelt were Allison Low (two firsts and a second), Greig Reisher (two firsts and a third), Allon Stern (1st, 3rd, 4th), Kevin Meyers (1st, 2nd, 6th), Sonja Johnson (1st), Oren Stern (three seconds), Tom Jones and Angela Vaccaro (2nd and two thirds), Billy Barwick (2nd, 4th, 5th), Kim Lofgren (3rd, 4th), Cathy VonBehren and Daniel Ison (4th and two fifths), and Amy DiSilvestre (4th).

Placing from Springhill Lake were Anna Royce and David Dinkins (three firsts), Ivan Weiner (two firsts and a second), Brian Dinkins (first and two seconds), Beth Shevitz (1st, 2nd, 3rd), Monique Moyer (two seconds and a 5th), Dante Dinkins (2nd, 3rd), Michael Pulliam (3rd, 4th), and Tina Umphries (2nd, 3rd, 4th). period until the end of the month. General Manager Tim Mitter also spoke about the need for exterior wall painting and reroofing. Management had obtained informal estimates for the painting and roofing.

Motions were made by Don Volk and Frank Gervasi to approve management proposals to contract for the work, but Jim Smith's motion to table the motions carried. Most board members wanted staff to show them more formal specifications for the proposed work.

Changes to Prince Georges General Plan Proposed

A proposed General Plan for Prince Georges County will be the subject of a joint Planning Board/County Council public hearing on October 20.

A briefing on the plan will be held on September 22 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Hyattsville Library. Reference copies of the plan will be available at libraries, municipal buildings and Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission community centers.

The purpose of the proposed General Plan is to serve as a long-range policy guide, indicating generally where development may occur. The General Plan includes policies and proposals for the environment, housing, public facilities, transportation, land use and related matters. If it is adopted, it would supersede the 1964 Wedges and Corridors General Plan as it applies to the Prince Georges County portion of the Maryland-Washington Regional District. In addition, the Transportation Element of the General Plan will constitute a County-wide functional Master Plan of Transportation and supersede the present Master Plan for Highways.

New Democratic Alliance Meets in City Sept. 24

Greenbelt's Gough Gets Movie Roles

by Corinne Comulada

If you caught Monday night's (July 20) re-broadcast of "Death In Ocean View Park" and were alert, you may have seen Greenbelt's Gerry Gough, who appeared with Martin Landau, Mike Connors, and Carolyn Williams. Gough played the commander of a naval weather station in the film, about a hurricane that destroyed a roller-coaster.

Gough, 49, has been employed by Metro for the past 13 years. He majored in drama at the University of Maryland and after graduation worked for different acting companies. He married, moved to Washington, D.C. and taught social studies at High Point High School.

Friends encouraged him to consult a booking agent, and after an absence of 15 years, he appeared in "The First Family" with Harvey Korman.

His next film, "Reds," directed by Warren Beatty, will be released in December. Gough plays a government agent hired to trail Diane Keaton through Washington, D.C., New York and Los Angeles.

Although "Ocean View Park" didn't get rave reviews, Gough feels "Reds" is a good film and would like to see it become a winner. He calls acting "therapy" and enjoys it, but would not think of leaving Metro.

government who will give their views on issues that affect Prince Georges County and the nation.

The organization will encourage voter awareness. Its members will lobby, petition and rally to support Democratic policies.

The NDA will hold its first general meeting on Thurs., Sept. 24, 8 p.m. at the Municipal Bldg. The public is invited. For information, call Bernie Horn, 864-6953.

"Romantic Comedy" will run at Petrucci's Main Street Dinner Theater in Laurel through November 25. Written by Bernard Slade and under the direction of Fay Jacobs, the play is a warm, humorous look at a famous playwright and his charming but eccentric writing partner as they move back and forth between friendship and romance.

Petrucci's features an International Buffet and a newly decorated parlor. For reservations call 725-5226.
